

A Seminar on Neokul

On July 9, 2024, Mr. Apurva Bamba gave a technical session to the Computer Engineering Department students under the ACM Student Chapter. He discussed Neokul, a website where students may sign up for projects including real-time application. Students can complete a project in two months to gain experience in a business setting. He inspired students to work on real-world applications. He also discussed the benefits of enrolling on the Neokul platform, which enables one to enter the world of entrepreneurship. Dr. Gaurang Patkar was the coordinator of this seminar.
